Interesting discussion of Digital Capital, Digital Equity, Digital Credit, and Digital Money with some excellent insights by @PunterJeff and @AdamBLiv.

Jeff Walton: It's been fascinating to watch how they've evolved using the MSTR security to pay the dividends and how they do it. It seems like the week of the dividend they generally raise the capital and they do it that way. You could do that several different ways, and I'm sure that they'll evolve even as they do semi-monthly dividends. Hopefully that gets approved. Everybody go vote if you haven't voted. They are — that focus of where you raise that capital is also going to be spread. Instead of having it like the week before when they pay the dividend, it's going to be spread out a little bit with semi-monthly dividends. And that will continue to change and evolve over time.

Michael Saylor: “The last point I’ll make is this is a monthly dividend, but we’re moving to make it twice a month, semi-monthly. And the shareholders are voting on that. That’ll be resolved by next Monday or Tuesday, I guess. And the idea is to pay out 24 times a year instead of 12 times a year. We think that it should decrease the volatility, should cut the volatility by some decent factor. It should increase the Sharpe ratio. It provides more entry and exit points. There’s 24,000 companies that pay a quarterly dividend. 176 pay monthly. We’ll be paying twice a month. And so that’s, it’s an interesting thing. It all will start in June. In July.”

Proposing to Pay STRC Dividends Semi-Monthly

- 1) Dividends paid two times a month instead of once: 15th & month-end; economics unchanged⁽¹⁾
- 2) Designed to Stabilize Price, Dampen Cyclicalities, Drive Liquidity, Grow Demand
- 3) Nasdaq Rules Limit Frequency (10 Days between Declaration & Record)

(1) Annual dividend payment amounts are unchanged. Dividends are made more frequently and dividend timing shifts under the new plan. If the monthly dividend is effectively deferred, for example, if the July rate is 1.5% and the August rate is 2%, then the first payment made in August (August 15th and tied to the July 1st record date) will be the second half of the July 1.5%-rate payment. The second payment made in August (August 31st and tied to the August 1st record date) will be the first half of the August 2%-rate payment. The first payment made in September (September 15th and tied to the August 1st record date) will be the second half of the August 2%-rate payment.
