

Historical Long-Term Results

Rolling 5-Year Performance (as of March 31, 2016)

- We believe our investment track record should be viewed in the context of our investment time horizon of at least 5 years.
- Horizon Kinetics' strategies generally have high active share and low turnover with an implied average holding period of five years for our investments.
- Horizon Kinetics' strategies are less suitable for investors seeking short-term oriented, tactical approaches.

% of 5-Yr Rolling Periods (gross of fees)

Institutional Composites	Inception Date	# of 5-Year Periods	Total Return > Index ¹	Total Return >0%	Total Return >10%
Strategic Value	Mar-00	134	78%	88%	53%
Spin-Off	Jan-97	172	95%	100%	65%
Large Cap	Jan-96	184	76%	94%	55%
Small Cap	Jan-98	160	93%	98%	63%
Research Select	Mar-98	158	75%	89%	59%

Please see Appendix for strategy specific information, definitions of performance & risk measures and additional information. Past performance is not indicative of future results.

¹ Each strategy is compared to its respective index. Performance for each strategy is represented by its respective composite. Large Cap, Spin-Off, Research Select, Strategic Value are compared to the S&P 500 Index. Small Cap is compared to the Russell 2000 Index. Source: Bloomberg, Statpro, FiservAPL. Gross returns do not reflect the deduction of investment advisory fees – please refer to the Appendix for important information regarding fees.