APTIV UNIQUELY POSITIONED TO CONCEIVE, SPECIFY AND DELIVER NEXT GENERATION ARCHITECTURES

Smart Vehicle Architecture (SVA)

AN OPTIMIZED AND SUSTAINABLE ARCHITECTURE THAT ENABLES THE COMPUTE CENTRALIZATION REQUIRED FOR FEATURE RICH AND HIGHLY AUTOMATED VEHICLES

ABSTRACT SOFTWARE FROM HARDWARE

Decoupling software from hardware allows independent lifecycles, and flexibility for dynamic feature sets and compute needs. This improves scalability.

SEPARATE I/O FROM COMPUTE

PDC performs Input / Output (I/O) concentration, which enables affordable redundancy

Note: Graphic highly simplified for communication purposes

Aptiv Increases Content By Reducing Complexity

MOVING FROM 100+ PHYSICAL ECUs ON A PREMIUM VEHICLE TO LOGICAL DOMAINS ON CENTRAL COMPUTE

TODAY: DOMAIN APPROACH ECU TOPOLOGY

Features reside in multiple physical ECUs

FUTURE: LOGICAL APPROACH TOPOLOGY

Features reside in central compute cluster and nodes, one logical computer

CONTENT AGGREGATORS
CAPABLE OF DOING HIGH
COMPUTE PLATFORMS

ECU PROVIDERS WHERE CONTENT IS UP-INTEGRATED

* PDC will host key features for zonal control

SVA Benefits

BREAKTHROUGH APPROACH TO ARCHITECTURE CREATES
SIGNIFICANT INCREMENTAL VALUE AND COST SAVINGS

ENABLES NEW VEHICLE FUNCTIONALITY

Efficient scalability for feature rich vehicles through intelligent abstraction, standardized interfaces and scalable compute; enables affordable redundancy / fail operational design for highly automated vehicles

SOFTWARE AND HARDWARE DEVELOPMENT DONE IN PARALLEL

Current development and test is a sequential process; separation of I/O from compute and software from hardware enables independent parallel development cycles and software reuse

MODULAR ARCHITECTURE ENABLES AUTOMATION AND COMMONALITY

Modular zonal architecture leveraging automatable design for manufacturing and vehicle assembly, while common sub-assembly enables SKU consolidation, resulting in a structurally lower cost to install and maintain for the OEM

UNLOCKS NEW BUSINESS MODELS

Central Compute facilitates Over-The-Air functionality (ex: SOTA / FOTA, profiles, edge compute and data monetization), while modularization provides an open platform / ecosystem for third party development
